

Cayo Coco & Cayo Guillermo

The northern coast of Ciego de Avila is a gift from Mother Nature.

Aligned in groups of small islands, Cayo Coco and Cayo Guillermo offer all the treasures of unspoiled beaches and exotic flora and fauna. These islands in the "Archipelago of Jardines del Rey" region are connected to the Cuban mainland by a 17 km causeway. With its breathtaking scenery that include pink flamingos, turquoise waters, and lush landscapes, travelers can bear witness to the well preserved ecosystem of the area. These islands have become one the most desired destination for tourism in Cuba. The coral reef located along the many exceptional beach front resorts is truly a diver's delight. This natural paradise offers guests a perfect tropical setting for an unforgettable vacation.
